

STEERING COMMITTEE

Prof. Emmanuel BENSIGNOR,
DECVD, France

Prof. BENSIGNOR is a corresponding member of the Académie Vétérinaire de France and is currently an Associate Professor at the Nantes Veterinary School. He is also a member of the International committee on allergic dermatitis in animals and vice-president of the French group of veterinary dermatology. Prof. BENSIGNOR is author of over 100 articles in peer-reviewed journals and has published several books in veterinary dermatology. A national and international lecturer, he has spoken at numerous conferences in Europe, North and South America, Russia, China, India and Japan.

Dr. Courtney CAMPBELL,
DACVS, USA

Dr. Campbell has enjoyed a career as a board-certified veterinary surgeon and a veterinary journalist. He specializes in orthopedic, soft tissue, and minimally invasive surgery. He is now a traveling relief surgeon in Southern California. On the media landscape, Dr. Campbell is a host of two podcasts, author, and daytime television veterinary medical correspondent. He is an avid lecturer, and he serves as the current Chair of the Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) Committee of the American College of Veterinary Surgeons (ACVS). He is also a member of other organizations that are committed to creating a more pluralistic veterinary profession including the Diversify Veterinary Medicine Coalition and the American Veterinary Medical Association DEI Commission.

STEERING COMMITTEE

Dr. Luisa CORNEGLIANI,
DECVD, PhD, Italy

Dr. Cornegliani is a full member of the European Society of Veterinary Dermatology (ESVD) since 1996.

She became a diplomate of the European College of Veterinary Dermatology (ECVD) in 2006. She has a PhD in Veterinary Hygiene and Animal Pathology.

Dr. Cornegliani is an external lecturer and speaker at national and international congresses dedicated to dermatology. She published articles on national and international journals, book's chapter and color atlas dedicated to dermatology and research fields.

She is past President of SIDEV (Società Italiana di Dermatologia Veterinaria) and currently works on private practice for referral dermatological cases.

Dr. Jacques FONTAINE,
DECVD, Belgium

Dr. Fontaine is a graduate of the Faculté de Médecine Vétérinaire of the University of Liège (1983). He worked in the small animal internal medicine department as an assistant. Gradually, he began to focus specifically on dermatology. He graduated from the European College of Veterinary Dermatology (ECVD) in 1996.

Dr Fontaine was also President of the ECVD from 2015 to 2017. He currently shares his professional activity between the Faculté de Médecine Vétérinaire (University of Liège) and a private consultation in Brussels.

STEERING COMMITTEE

 Dr. Andrea MARCHEGANI,
DVM, PhD, Italy

Dr. Marchegiani is a tenure track researcher in biophotonics therapy at the school of Biosciences and Veterinary Medicine at the University of Camerino, Italy. His main fields of interest and research concern complementary feeding in domestic animal, fluorescence photobiomodulation and ophthalmology, all of them in a translational approach and view. He is author of numerous articles in national and international scientific journals as well as speaker at conferences worldwide.

 Dr. Ursula MAYER,
DECVD, Germany

Dr. Mayer is a member of the European College of Veterinary Dermatology (ECVD) since 2008. After a clinical Lecturer position at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia (USA), she opened her own Dermatology practice in Germany in 2009. Since 2015 she leads the dermatology service of Anicura Kleintierspezialisten Augsburg, Germany and currently trains 2 residents of the ECVD. She works as a consultant for Idexx Laboratory and as a self-employed veterinary dermatology lecturer. She has authored scientific articles in national and international journals. Dr. Mayer's areas of special interest besides otology and allergy are dermatological lasers, photobiomodulation, split paw pad disease and client communication. Formerly Further Education & Meetings Secretary (2010-2015) on the board of the European Society of Veterinary Dermatology, she is now a part of the congress program commission of the German Veterinary Dermatology Society as well as the Dermatology and Laser Committee of the German Veterinary Association (DVG).

STEERING COMMITTEE

Dr. Laura ORDEIX,
DECVD, Spain

Dr. Ordeix is Associate Professor and Head of the dermatology division at the Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona. Board certified since 2002, she is a European Board of Veterinary Specialisation (EBVS) European Specialist in Veterinary Dermatology. She has authored many articles and book chapters on various aspects of dermatology; and has been member of several scientific committees of national and international meetings. Her current research focuses on canine leishmaniasis and other infectious or immunomediated cutaneous disease. She is also a member of the Credentials Committee of the European College for Veterinary Dermatology (ECVD).

Dr. Frédéric SAUVÉ,
DACVD, Canada

Dr. Sauvé is currently Associate Professor at the Faculty of Veterinary Medicine (FMV) at the Université de Montréal, and the immediate Past President of the Canadian Academy of Veterinary Dermatology (CAVD). Since graduating from the American College of Veterinary Dermatology (ACVD), Dr Sauvé joined the Dermatology Department at the FMV's Centre Hospitalier Universitaire Vétérinaire as a clinical instructor. He also taught senior students at the Atlantic Veterinary College of the University of Prince Edward Island. His research interests focus mainly on feline allergology, large animal dermatology and bacteriology.

STEERING COMMITTEE

Dr. Galia SHEINBERG,
DLACVD, Mexico

Dr Sheinberg is a member of the Latin American Society of Veterinary Dermatology (LACVD). She is a graduate of the National University of Mexico where she also finished her internship and residency program in small animal medicine and surgery. Dr Sheinberg owns a dermatology specialty practice in Mexico City and lectures internationally in dermatology. She has trained with the Animal Dermatology Group and actively participates in research and publications on dermatology.

Dr. Becky VALENTINE,
DACVD, Canada

Dr. Valentine is board-certified in Veterinary Dermatology since 2015 and has made a huge difference in the lives of pets and their owners ever since. After completing her Doctor of Veterinary Medicine and a rotating small animal internship at Ontario Veterinary College (OVC), she spent several years as an emergency veterinarian before returning to school to complete a residency in dermatology at the OVC. Dr. Valentine's interests include the treatment of antibiotic resistant skin infections and the diagnosis and management of allergic dermatitis in small animals and horses.

STEERING COMMITTEE

 Dr. Amelia WHITE
MS, DACVD, USA

Dr. White is a diplomate of the American College of Veterinary Dermatology (ACVD) since 2014 and an Associate Clinical Professor of Dermatology at Auburn University College of Veterinary Medicine. She has authored or contributed to various abstracts, case reports, primary research, and book chapters. Her research interests include allergic skin and ear diseases, infectious dermatoses and wellness, and communication in veterinary medicine.

 Dr. Anthony YU,
MS, DACVD, Canada

Dr. Yu is board-certified by the American Academy of Veterinary Dermatology. He started the first private dermatology referral practice in Oregon and southwestern Washington, dealing with chronic ear, skin, and allergic conditions in dogs, cats, and horses for 11 years before returning to teach at the Ontario Veterinary College (OVC) as an Associate Professor until 2013. He then returned to private referral practice where he helps to get to the root of chronic ear, skin, endocrine, and allergic conditions in dogs, cats, and horses. Dr. Yu also has a keen interest in Video-otoscopy and LASER surgery. He has lectured extensively in veterinary dermatology throughout North America, Europe, and China as well as authoring and guest editing several publications in canine, feline, and equine journals and veterinary textbooks.